

Love Is

Reach into the night, through a time of dark despair
In this frightened city, does anyone really care?
These thickest hours of morning, before the dawn bells ring,
No hiding in dreams, this is how it always begins

This hunger for love is a never ending game
Too close to the sun always falling down like rain
On the edge of night, when the moon, is yellow poison to my eyes
I walk these frozen streets, the west wind begins to cry

Love is love, love is a red ruby fire, love is the flame of desire, so free and wild Love is love, love is the quickening time, love is the rose on the vine, love is the end of us all

What was written in the stars, was never carved in stone
What words cannot say, our dreams have always known
So many lives, so many loves, ah but no one can tell
Some are divine and some are just a living hell

Touch me , hold me in the moment that i cry
In the shelter of your arms, is where i want to live and die
I'm learning, I'm teaching, I'm falling, I'm reaching I'm living I'm loving, sometimes it just feels like I'm dying

Love is love, love is a red ruby fire, love is the flame of desire, so free and wild
Love is love, love is the quickening time, love is the rose and the vine, love is the end of us all

Tell me your name, cause i've seen your face before
Don't stand in the rain, when you hold the keys to my door
Angels may rise or sudden darkness fall
But if you walk away, then there will be no hope at all

Love is love is love is a red ruby fire love is the flame of desire so free and wild
Love is love, love is the quickening time, love is the rose and the vine, love is
the end of us all
Love is love, love is the temple of lights, shining so bright, the eyes of night